Forward

For 75 years, AIESEC has been making the world a better place. We strive to empower youth to embrace their leadership potential and grow towards being integral members of an interculturally diverse global society. AIESEC in Rwanda has contributed to this noble cause for 17 years now.

Our deepest fear is not that we are inadequate. Our deepest fear is that we are powerful beyond measure.” Marianne Williamson

In the 17th year of AIESEC in Rwanda, we believed that the pursuit of peace and fulfillment of humankind’s potential is not to be belittled and requires robust desire and unyielding ambition. We decided that the time came for AIESEC in Rwanda to look inwards unconformably and adapt to an ever-changing world outside. From that moment onwards, we decided to believe in youth potential.

We concluded that if we want to sustain and grow AIESEC in Rwanda and make it more relevant and better for everyone, we need to challenge ourselves and all that we know.

As an organization with the belief that youth leadership development is the fundamental solution to today’s most lingering problems, we delved even deeper to further our understanding of leadership and to advance our means of bringing capable youth to the forefront.

To a generation that defies the norms and expectations.

To a generation that challenges the complacent.

To a generation that believes in youth potential.

I dedicate this annual report to you.

AIESEC in Rwanda 22.23

Overview

With alluring aspirations, we were determined to dream of an AIESEC in Rwanda capable of being bigger than it has ever been and an AIESEC that will overcome its self-imposed limitations. This 2022.2023 term has triggered a change in the organization that is to be witnessed for the years to come.

We made strides in defining how we run innovation and the output we expect from it within the network. We researched, designed, developed, and tested means that would bring us closer to our mission as an organization. We started understanding what it means to bring change to youth and community-centred organizations of our scale, and we initiated the transformation journey. The term 2022.2023 was not short of accomplishments, one of its being able to host two regional events in the Middle East and Africa (Regional Youth Speak Forum and Regional Presidents Meeting). It was not an easy undertaking. But one that was needed and worth pursuing regardless of the bumps. It will prove in the years to come to have been a critical and strong milestone in AIESEC in Rwanda's progress. This report highlights the major aspirations, milestones, challenges, and learnings for the 22.23 term. As we close this chapter and prepare for the new term, we invite you to join our efforts as we capitalize on learnings to look beyond.

Exchange Impact in numbers

In the aftermath of Covid 19, we were determined to prove a concept that International exchange is possible again, following all the groundwork of change management done by our predecessors.

Global Money Week (GMW) is a global initiative initiated by CYFI and OECD to educate young people on financial matters, empowering them to make informed decisions for future financial well-being. AIESEC in Rwanda has actively participated since 2014. The 11th GMW, held from March 20 to 26, 2023, focused on the theme "Plan your money, plant your future."

Objectives

The objectives for GMW 2023 were to ensure access to financial education, teach money matters, and empower young people to improve financial resilience for sustainability.

Target Audience

We focused on young people aged 5 to 30, AIESEC in Rwanda designed engaging activities, workshops, and competitions tailored to promote financial literacy to this age group.

Activities undertaken during GMW2023

GMW Launch: Opened at Rwanda Stock Exchange, educating students on the stock market, leading many to open SSD accounts for stock investments.

Financial Literacy Workshop: Conducted in partnership with BNR at Lemigo Hotel, covering personal financial management, safe investments, Fintech contributions, and awareness of financial scams.

Awareness in Schools: Visits to 4 schools in Huye and Kigali, teaching students about the importance of saving and working with financial institutions.

Media Engagements: Collaborated with various media outlets, including TV, radio, and written media houses, to reach a broader audience.

Essay Competition: Engaged 54 participants aged 16 to 24, examining the role of government and fintech institutions in promoting financial inclusion. Winners are awarded with stocks, international exchange programs, and local internships.

Outcome

Engaged over 1100 young people directly, imparting skills in money matters, encouraging long-term saving and investment, and promoting awareness of financial scams.

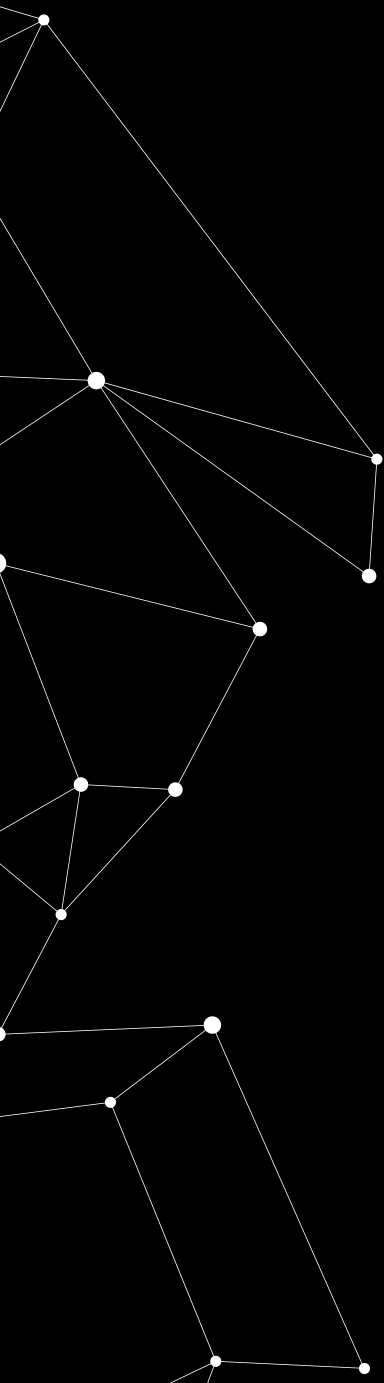

Participants started saving for the future, opening accounts in financial institutions and SSD accounts in the Rwanda Stock Exchange.

Partnerships and Collaborations

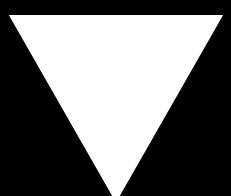

We had key collaborations with the National Bank of Rwanda, Economic Policy Research Network, IGIHE LTD, SPENN Rwanda, and the Rwanda Stock Exchange which contributed significantly to the success of GMW 2023.

Challenges and Lessons Learned

Challenges included delays in partner confirmation and conflicts with academic schedules. Lessons learned emphasized the need to increase outreach, conduct sales in advance, and conduct deep research for better planning.

THE LEGACY OF THE TERM 2022.2023

INTERNATIONAL PRESIDENTS MEETING (IPM 2025)

IPM is a platform where all National Presidents and the Global office of AIESEC come together to engage in critical discussions on how to shape the future of the organization and develop more youth leaders around the world.

During International Congress 2023, held in India from the 5th to the 14th of July, AIESEC in Rwanda submitted a bid to host the AIESEC International Presidents Meeting(IPM2025) at the International Legislative Meeting session, AIESEC in Rwanda proxied by AIESEC in Austria was mandated and voted by the global plenary to host IPM 2025.

Thanks to the support of the Ministry of Youth for endorsing the Bid, the Rwanda Convention Bureau for collaborating in the bidding process, Board of Advisors, Local chapter presidents and AIESEC in Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania. We can not wait to see the entire global plenary in Rwanda in February 2025.

AIESEC in Rwanda Attained Full Membership Status in Global Plenary

We are thrilled to announce a historic achievement during the term 2022.2023. Since its inception, AIESEC in Rwanda had never attained full membership status with voting rights in the global plenary, limiting our influence in the decision-making processes at the global level.

We are proud to share that, through dedicated efforts and strategic initiatives, we have successfully secured full membership status for AIESEC in Rwanda in the global plenary. This accomplishment marks a watershed moment in our organization's history, allowing us to actively participate in shaping the future of AIESEC on a global scale.

The journey to this achievement involved meticulous adherence to the highest standards of governance and management.

We diligently fulfilled all criteria set forth by the global AIESEC community, ensuring that our operations and practices align with the organization's values and objectives.

This newfound status not only amplifies the voice of AIESEC in Rwanda but also signifies our commitment to contributing meaningfully to the global AIESEC movement. It is a testament to the hard work, dedication, and passion of our team, volunteers, and stakeholders who have relentlessly worked towards this common goal.

As we move forward, we look forward to actively engaging in the decision-making processes of the global plenary, bringing the unique perspectives and experiences of AIESEC in Rwanda to the forefront.

FORMAL PARTNERSHIP WITH THE MINISTRY OF YOUTH IN RWANDA

In the dynamic landscape of youth development, AIESEC in Rwanda embarked on a transformative journey in the term 2022.2023 by forging a groundbreaking partnership with the Ministry of Youth in Rwanda. This strategic alliance aimed to establish five integrated regional centers, strategically positioned across the four provinces and Kigali city, laying the foundation for a powerful platform dedicated to the holistic development and engagement of the nation's youth.

Our Vision for the Partnership

Our vision was clear to create a robust ecosystem that equips young minds with the essential tools and opportunities necessary to thrive in an ever-evolving world. We envisioned these integrated regional centers as hubs of empowerment, fostering an environment where youth could unleash their potential and actively contribute to shaping the future of Rwanda.

Our Key Objectives

At the core of our mission was the commitment to strengthening the partnership with the Ministry of Youth. Our teams engaged in active and fruitful discussions, tirelessly working towards the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) that would solidify our collaboration and pave the way for transformative initiatives.

Unaccomplished Milestone

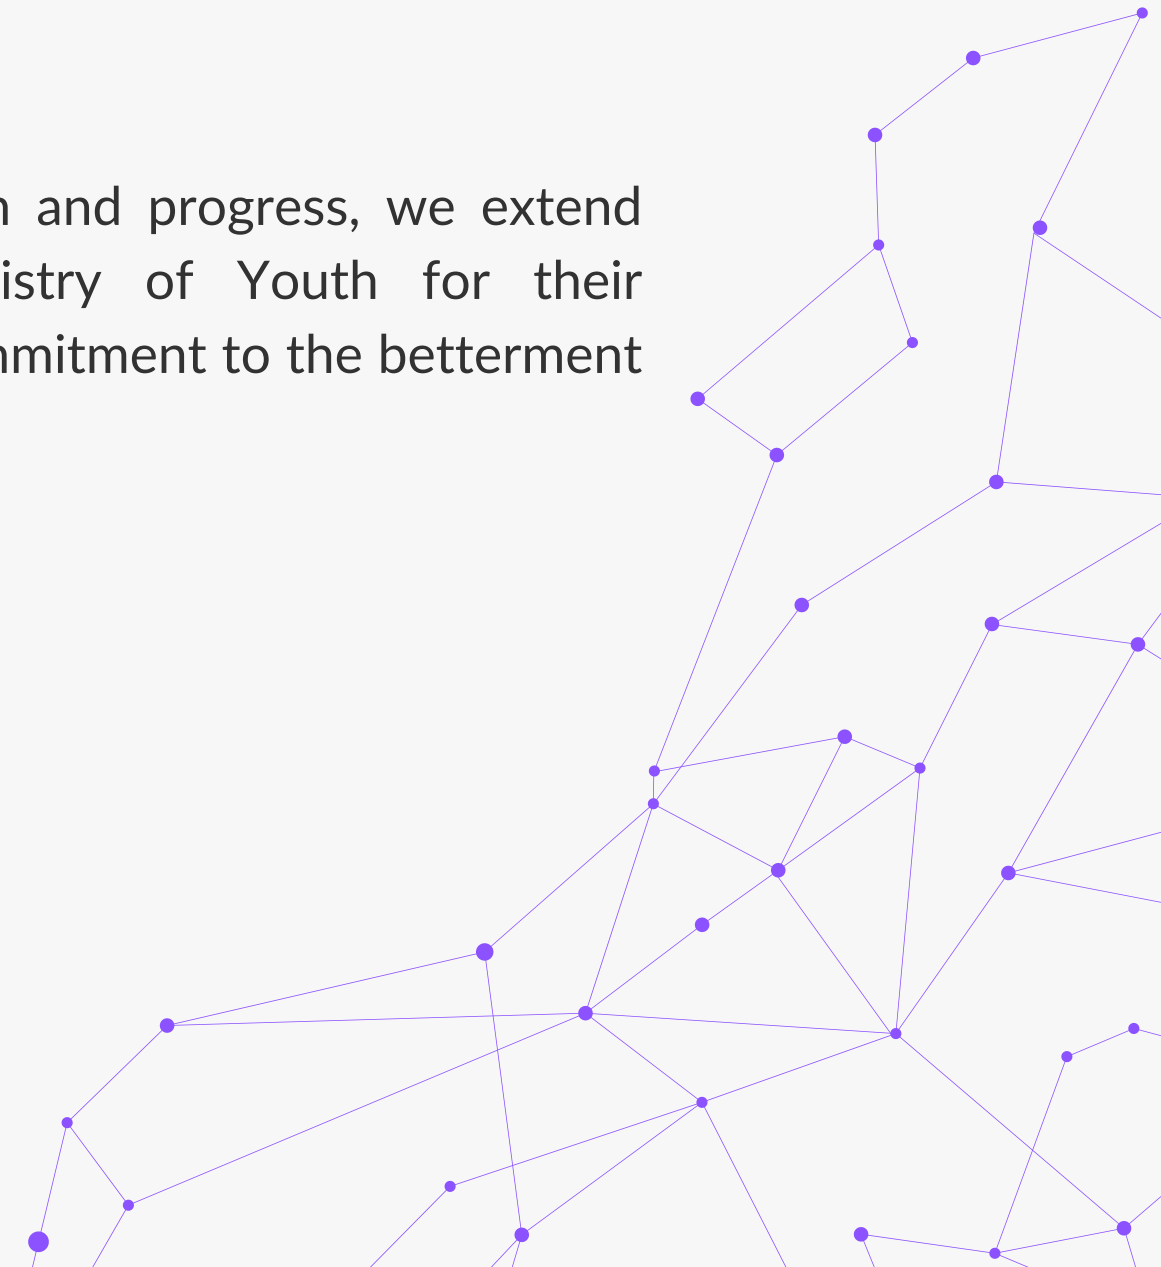

As we reflect on the year, we acknowledge that the signing of the MoU remains an unaccomplished milestone. However, this transition serves as a testament to our resilience and dedication. The journey towards this milestone has not been without challenges, but it has fueled our determination to continue advocating for the youth and their potential to drive positive change.

Looking Forward

Though this specific objective remains on the horizon, the groundwork laid through our partnership has already begun to bear fruit. We remain committed to youth empowerment, and we are optimistic that the coming years will see the realization of our shared vision for a more empowered and resilient youth population in Rwanda.

In the spirit of collaboration and progress, we extend our gratitude to the Ministry of Youth for their collaboration and shared commitment to the betterment of the youth in Rwanda.

Empowering the present. Shaping the future.

CLOSING

Within this term 2022.2023; We learned that it requires a considerable amount of effort to be an agent of change. We started with a clear vision and a strong trust in youth potential and we constantly built on that fundamental belief that leadership is a solution to the world's most pressing issues. Young people need meaningful experiences and our members, in particular, should have unique and clear job descriptions which connect to their career paths and leave a positive impact on their societies at the same time. The value that AIESEC gives to its members makes them the right candidates for opportunities available on the market today, and our Leadership development model is very relevant.

We also appreciate the constant support from Partners in our operations. Over the years, it has sustained AIESEC's operations and continued impact amongst youth. Through our years of working together, it has become evident that institutions in Rwanda are on a conscious agenda to promote youth leadership development through cross-cultural environments.

We look forward to mutually beneficial partnerships in the future and to a strengthened collaboration to allow a bigger impact. It's been a great honor for us to serve the organization and we love each one of you.
