FOREWORD

Dear AIESECers, Partners, and Stakeholders, My name is Vicent Manila and for the past year I have had the privilege of being president of AIESEC in Rwanda. Together with my team and Local teams across the country, we have been busy transforming AIESEC into an organisation that takes responsibility for shaping the reality of its people and their communities.

This was an important year for AIESEC in Rwanda as it marked the 15th+ year of AIESEC's impactful journey in Rwanda, we stand at the intersection of tradition and innovation, reflecting on our mission's enduring relevance in an interculturally diverse global society. As Marianne Williamson eloquently states, our deepest fear is not inadequacy but the untapped power within us. AIESEC in Rwanda has embraced this ethos for over 15 years, recognising that the pursuit of peace and unlocking humankind's potential demands unwavering ambition.

In this pivotal moment, we acknowledge the need for introspection and adaptation in a rapidly changing world. AIESEC in Rwanda is born from a commitment to believe in youth potential and challenge the status quo. We have dedicated ourselves to Shaping our impact and empowering young leaders for a sustainable AIESEC. Understanding that growth requires us to question and evolve. As we step into the future, we draw inspiration from AIESEC's 75-year legacy, striving to empower youth to embrace leadership potential and become integral contributors to a better world.

Our journey this year was a testament to our belief that youth leadership development is fundamental to addressing contemporary challenges. This report is dedicated to the generation that defies norms, challenges complacency, and fervently believes in youth potential. May it serve as a compass guiding us to greater heights as we refresh our commitment to positive change.

Sincerely,

Vicent Manila

President, AIESEC in Rwanda 23.24

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

AIESEC in Rwanda term 23.24, our journey unfolded with a dedicated focus on youth development, community impact, and strategic partnerships. Guided by a commitment to our organisational ethos, this report encapsulates the essence of our endeavours from August to July 2024.

AIESEC in Rwanda remains steadfast in its mission to empower communities and foster youth development. With 15+ years of impactful presence in Rwanda, our partnerships with private and public institutions reflect a shared commitment to community growth. Through various programs, we have contributed to Rwanda's development and celebrated our 15th+ Anniversary, rekindling memories of vivid leadership and a lasting impact.

Addressing challenges head-on, our operations focused on refining the Global Volunteer program, placing a strategic emphasis on Incoming Global Volunteers. Organisational Development initiatives ensured growth, education, and expansion, with a spotlight on accountability systems and learning opportunities.

The events highlights of the year like the Board of Presidents Summits, Executive Board Summit, the 15th+ Anniversary Celebration, Global Monew Week, Key Competence for practice workshop, the Dynamite Conference and Youth to Business Forum showcased our dedication to synergy, collaboration, and transformative experiences. New partnerships, renewed partnerships and in-kind collaborations further expanded our network and resources.

Challenges in partnership timelines and stakeholder engagement underscored the need for enhanced training and clarity of purpose. Despite hurdles, our adaptability and commitment to positive change shone through, positioning us for continued growth.

As we conclude, we reflect on our achievements, lessons learned, and the road travelled. With gratitude for the shared commitment of AIESECers, partners, and stakeholders, we embarked on this journey with renewed vigour. Together, we shaped leaders, foster collaboration, and left an enduring impact on the landscape of impact and empowerment in Rwanda.

OPERATIONS

Global Volunteer

On December 11th 2015, at the United Nations Headquarters in New York City, AIESEC declared to adopt and contribute to achieving the Global Goals for Sustainable Development by mobilising and developing young leaders who create awareness, foster engagement and take action to implement these goals. We recognise the role of young people in spearheading the Sustainable Development Goal Agenda. So we work tirelessly to create and facilitate opportunities for young people to contribute towards active implementation.

This program is a two-way affair. Meanwhile, we send out Rwandan youth to volunteer abroad. We also create projects locally for international volunteers to work locally. Similarly, these projects are aligned with the SDGs and thus contribute to achieving the SDGs in Rwanda.

To ensure further progress towards contributing to the SDGs and financial sustainability of the entity, we decided to focus on the Incoming Global volunteer portfolio.

IMPACT IN NUMBERS

Being the second generation in the aftermath of Covid 19, we were determined to prove a concept that International exchange is possible again, following all the groundwork of change management done by our predecessors.

Organizational Development

Organisational Development in AIESEC is about Organizational Strategy. It is the area that drives the main macro-strategies for the entity when we deal with network Development. Organisation Development encompasses all processes which help AIESEC build its capacity to change and achieve greater effectiveness, such as organisational structures, entity development models, coaching, incentives, and rewards systems—ensuring a great responsibility for change management and implementation of systems to be faster, effective, and easier to communicate in the entity.

Membership

In AIESEC, where turnover is a significant challenge, talent management becomes a linchpin for organisational success. Unlike traditional Human Resources (HR), Talent Management (TM) transcends administrative aspects like payrolls and benefits. While HR handles technicalities, TM adopts a strategic approach, prioritising the identification, support, and development of top talents. It goes beyond routine HR functions, aiming to propel individuals to their peak potential. As we grapple with high turnover rates, effective Talent Management emerges as a crucial driver, ensuring the sustained vibrancy and impact of AIESEC by fostering a culture of continuous learning and strategic leadership development.

Transitioning from the 2022.2023 terms, where our emphasis was on membership development due to its integral role in our organisational value proposition, the 2023.2024 term marks a strategic shift. In this term, we recognise the significance of enhancing physical touchpoints, mainly through conferences and functional summits. While membership development remains pivotal, we believe that augmenting in-person interactions can amplify the impact of our initiatives.

By concentrating on physical touchpoints, we created richer, more immersive experiences that strengthen connections, foster collaboration, and deepen the human aspect of our organisation. This strategic pivot aligns with our commitment to continuous improvement and ensuring that every facet of AIESEC in the 2023.2024 term reflects our dedication to meaningful, personal engagements.

Challenges before the start of the term

- The previous MC engagement and focus were low and affected the membership
- No metrics in place to measure the performance and growth of the members
- No means to collect data and keep track of the data collected
- No implementation of the education cycle and access to educational materials in Local Chapters
- Poor membership engagement
- The majority of local chapters have experienced delays in the recruitment and onboarding process.

Implemented solutions to the challenges

- Created Membership Experience Standards tracker to be used while tracking value delivery to members of our entity
- Created an educational cycle and Google Classroom for easy access to the learning materials
- Established a system to facilitate Local Chapter Vice Presidents' learning more about their functions through the regular functional area meetings with their respective Member Committee Vice Presidents.
- Reviewed and updated the HR Management system/ database to enable the tracking of retention rates, membership information, implementation of Membership Experience Standards in each Local Chapter and funnel management
- Sensitized the regular delivery of National services owed to the Local Chapters, including One to One between National Vice-presidents and Local chapter Vice-presidents, Functional Area meetings and monthly newsletters. The purpose of this is to increase the engagement between Local Chapters and the National Team, learning and evaluating the growth and performance of the Local Chapter Vice presidents.
- Delivered Board of President summit and Executive Board Summit

Events & National Projects

We firmly believe that empowering the communities surrounding us is a key strategy in advancing our vision and directly impacting the areas we serve. AIESEC in Rwanda has established strong partnerships with both private and public institutions, as well as ministries, to collaboratively contribute to community and youth development in Rwanda through various programs.

At the beginning of the term, we planned to implement six projects.

Those projects are the Executive Board Summit, AIESEC in Rwanda's 15th+ Years Anniversary, Dynamite Conference, Youth to Business Forum, Global Money Week and AIESEC Week. Among these projects, five were implemented in the first and second semesters: the Executive Board Summit, the AIESEC in Rwanda 15th+ Anniversary, Global Money Week, Dynamite conference and Youth to Business Forum.

Key Learning

- Private Universities have proven to be the best fit for our opportunities.
- Functional Accountability Systems need to be taken seriously.
- Ensuring the right and proper research to inform decisions and approach to engagement.
- Emphasizing education at all levels of the organisation
- International talents and volunteers would like to come to Rwanda, but we lack enough opportunities for them.
- Alumni engagement could help in membership development

Executive Board Summit

The EB Summit is a strategic initiative designed to foster synergy, collaboration, and alignment between the AIESEC in Rwanda Member Committee (MC) and Local Chapter Executive Boards (LCEBs).

The summit serves as a platform for transparent communication, shared vision, and collaborative decision-making, aiming to ensure that the strategic direction, plans, and goals of AIESEC in Rwanda are well-aligned and optimised to empower young leaders and drive positive change at national and local levels.

The summit was successfully implemented on October 17th - 19th, 2023 and attended by all executive committees from the Local Chapter of Kigali, Huye and Expansion Musanze. The local chapters completed their planning, and the national plan was downscaled.

AIESEC in Rwanda 15th+ Anniversary

In 2023, AIESEC celebrated 75 years of existence globally. AIESEC in Rwanda celebrated 15+ years of Vivid Leadership and its impact on Rwandan society. This celebration recreated vivid memories and experiences that are so impactful and memorable and that produce potent feelings and solid and clear images in our minds. The celebration was mainly focused on the impact of experiences and vivid AIESEC stories, connections, and memories through the decades.

The theme highlights AIESEC's global impact over the past 75 years, as well as AIESEC in Rwanda's countrywide and beyond impact over the past 15+ years. It acknowledges the legacy of bold and VIVID leadership that AIESEC has developed over the years and celebrates the organisation's ongoing commitment to developing leaders who can make a positive impact in their communities and around the world.

The Anniversary Celebration was held on 25 November 2023 to commemorate 15+ years of AIESEC in Rwanda. The event brought together a diverse group of delegates, Past and current partners of AIESEC in Rwanda, Co-founders of AIESEC in Rwanda, Board of Advisors for AIESEC in Rwanda, Country Presidents since the inception of AIESEC in Rwanda, AIESEC in Rwanda's alumni community and Current AIESEC in Rwanda members and friends.

The Highlights of the Anniversary Video Link

Competencies 4 Practice Workshop

One of the notable initiatives was the Key Competencies 4 Practice Workshop, which took place from February 27th to 29th, 2024. This comprehensive three-day workshop was designed to empower final-year and penultimate students at the University of Rwanda with essential skills for a successful transition into the professional sphere. The workshop provided hands-on experiences in career building, soft skills training, emotional intelligence, effective communication, CV and resume writing, portfolio design, and interview preparation. Tailored specifically to meet the needs of students preparing for internships, the program was a resounding success, engaging 15 selected students out of an initial pool of 200 applicants.

This event was organized in collaboration with the University of Koblenz, DAAD, Zifet, and the University of Rwanda

Youth to Business 2024

SUMMARY

The "Youth to Business" project was a 3-month initiative by AIESEC in Rwanda, endorsed by The Commonwealth Year of Youth, aimed at fostering innovation and entrepreneurship among Rwandan youth. It involved three phases: soliciting business ideas, providing incubation and training, and awarding the best ideas in collaboration with industry experts. The project aimed to equip youths with the skills and support to turn their ideas into successful businesses, thus contributing to Rwanda's economic growth.

INTRODUCTION

The Youth to Business project was designed to showcase and celebrate the most innovative and promising business ideas developed by Rwandan youth. Its purpose was to provide a platform for young entrepreneurs to present their ideas, receive recognition, and gain support from industry experts, fostering a culture of innovation and entrepreneurship among the youth.

The "Youth to Business" project addressed the critical need to foster innovation and entrepreneurship among the youth of Rwanda. Over a span of three months, the project unfolded in phases: first, by calling for business ideas from the youth; second, through incubation and training to help transform these ideas into viable ventures; and finally, the climax event - the Youth to Business Forum.

OBJECTIVES

- Inspire and engage the youths in developing innovative business ideas.
- Provide comprehensive incubation and training support to transform these ideas into viable ventures.
- Recognize and reward the most promising ideas with industry expert partnerships.
- Promote a culture of entrepreneurship and innovation among the youth.
- Equip youth with entrepreneurial skills and knowledge through training sessions, mentorship, and social entrepreneurship coaching.
- Foster innovation and economic growth by turning youth ideas into thriving businesses, thus contributing to job creation and sustainable development.

Key Outcomes and Impact

- The Youth to Business project received 77 applications, selected 50 participants for the training phase, and saw 22 successfully complete the project (50% Male, 50% Female)
- Participants learned essential skills in business planning, financial forecasting, marketing and sales, problem statement and value proposition composing, and pitch deck creation.
- The forum itself garnered over 500 attendees, showcasing the widespread interest and engagement from the public.

FEEDBACK FROM ATTENDEES

PARTNERSHIPS & COLLABORATIONS

- The Commonwealth Year of Youth endorsed the project, lending significant credibility and visibility. Their endorsement helped elevate the project's profile and attract a broader range of participants and stakeholders.
- Igihe served as the media partner, providing crucial promotional support through various media channels. Their involvement ensured wide coverage of the project's activities, helping to reach potential participants and raise awareness.
- Winnaz partnered for the raffle component of the event. Their contribution added an engaging element to the forum, offering incentives that encouraged participation and excitement among attendees.

What I liked most about the Youth to Business Forum was the opportunity to interact with industry professionals and gain valuable insights and knowledge about the current trends and challenges in the business world. It was an excellent platform for networking with like-minded individuals and learning from experienced professionals through panel discussions and workshops.

- Niyomukiza Emmanuel -

I would say that deeply understanding global markets, mastering the art of pitching, and committing to personal development profoundly inspired and empowered me as a young entrepreneur.

★★★★★
- Blanche Murera -

It helped me understand that as a youth, I can create employment opportunities rather than wait for jobs to be offered.

- Ishimwe Hirwa Henriette -

I would say the most valuable aspect was the opportunity to bridge the gap between young minds and experienced professionals. It provided a unique chance for aspiring entrepreneurs to gain insights from established business owners while allowing businesses to benefit from the fresh ideas and perspectives that young people bring to the table.

NATIONAL PARTNERS

STRATEGIC PARTNERS

In addition to these formal partnerships, several informal relationships were nurtured, including with

- Jasiri (Allan & Gill Gray Philanthropy),
- iDebate Rwanda, and
- Yellow Card.

These connections, while not formalized through contracts, hold potential for future collaborations and continue to contribute to our extended network.

KEY LEARNINGS

Lessons Learned & Recommendations

1. Synergistic Planning with Partners:
2. It became evident that aligning yearly planning and replanning efforts with our partners or potential partners is crucial. When we co-plan projects, it not only facilitates smoother collaboration but also ensures that partners feel a shared responsibility towards the project. This synergy increases the likelihood of securing revenue and sponsorships.

Diverse Fundraising Strategies:

We learned the importance of applying for more grants to diversify our fundraising strategy. Relying solely on government and private sector partnerships can be limiting. By seeking additional grant opportunities, we can create a more balanced and sustainable funding approach.

Financial Report: The year 2024/2023 against audited report for the year 2022-2023. It should be noted that the financial year 2023-2024 is pending audit which will start in December 2023.

Income: The two largest sources of revenue for the year were Regional conferences (YSF&RPM) and the Global Money Week 2023 and exchanges. This was from the partnerships formulated and there have been a few revenue generation schemes as well.

Expenditure: The overall level of expenditure increased in order to manage the increase in operations. This was largely due to the increase in human resources, investment and hosting of regional conferences.

MC CRAFT CLOSING

As we draw the curtain on this term of AIESEC in Rwanda, the pages of our journey reflect resilience, collaboration, and impactful strides. Our commitment to community and youth development, manifested through diverse programs and strong partnerships, underscores the tangible change we aspire to bring to Rwanda. This semester's accomplishments are a testament to our members' dedication and our partners' unwavering support. As we celebrate the milestones achieved, we also acknowledge the lessons learned and areas for growth. With renewed enthusiasm and a shared commitment, we look ahead to the next team with confident that the seeds of positive change planted today will blossom into a brighter future for the communities we serve. Together, let us continue shaping leaders, fostering collaboration, and leaving an indelible mark on the landscape of impact and empowerment in Rwanda.

Thank you for being an integral part of AIESEC in Rwanda's term 2023.2024 success.
