Word from MCP

Dear AIESECers, Partners, and Stakeholders,

My name is Vicent Manila, and over the past twelve months, I've had the profound honour of serving as the President of AIESEC in Tanzania. This term has been more than just a leadership journey; it has been a milestone. Together with my team and local chapters across the country, we embarked on a mission to ascend to rise beyond limitations, build intentional impact, and shape a sustainable AIESEC.

What made this year even more significant is that it marked the 25th Anniversary of AIESEC in Tanzania. A quarter-century since young Tanzanians joined a global movement to develop leadership for peace and fulfilment of humankind's potential. Standing at this historic crossroads, we honoured the past, acknowledged the present, and dared to shape the future.

Throughout this term, we embraced the responsibility of legacy. We reimagined our national strategies, reinforced collaboration within East Africa, deepened our engagements with partners, and prioritised the growth of our people. We didn't just run programs, we built relevance. We didn't just measure performance, we nurtured purpose.

This year was about choosing to rise. To rise in how we serve our communities. To rise in how we empower our members. To rise in how we deliver value to our partners. From national forums to career fairs, from partner roundtables to local chapter development, this was a year where AIESEC in Tanzania walked in its values and rose with vision. As we celebrate 25 years of developing young leaders in Tanzania, may this report serve as a reflection of our collective ascent, one built on courage, belief, and unwavering commitment to youth leadership.

To all who have walked this journey with us, thank you for believing.

With pride and gratitude,

Vicent Manila

President, AIESEC in Tanzania 2024.2025

Financial Report

Overview

This report summarizes the financial performance and compliance status of AIESEC in Tanzania for the recent fiscal periods, highlighting successes, challenges, and key developments.

Success Points

- Profit Generation: The Achievers Conference, Career Fair, and 25th Anniversary Painting collectively contributed to our profit generation efforts, each playing a key role in driving revenue through delegate participation, sponsorships, and creative fundraising initiatives.
- Compliance Achievements: We successfully completed three audits for the financial years 2022 to 2024, demonstrating our commitment to transparency and accountability.
- Partnerships Development: We secured two partners for local talent, enhancing our program offerings and community engagement.

Challenges

- Compliance Issues: We encountered significant challenges with the Tanzania Revenue Authority (TRA) regarding unfiled returns from the year 2020. As a result, we had to file all outstanding returns for the financial years 2020 through 2024 in the fiscal year 2024/2025.
- Penalties: Due to the unfiled returns, we faced penalties from TRA, which impacted our financial standing and required additional resources to address.
- Exchange Revenue: The exchange segment did not contribute to our revenue as expected due to its frozen status and pricing issues, limiting our potential income from this area.
